Photos without stories
are memories lost.

Heritage Makers

Heritage Makers began with a simple concept and a simple story. It all started with a daughter, Candace May, who wanted to commemorate the life of her grandfather. She wanted to preserve and pass on his stories, his values, his experiences and his love of family.

So Candace got to work. She gathered photos. She collected stories. And she put it all into a handmade book. Candace's book became the very first Heritage Makers storybook, and the cornerstone of the company vision—to help people everywhere tell their stories and preserve their photos.
